The following workshop is being offered in 2011

Sculpting the Figure with Edward Eyth June 10, 11, and 12, 2011

"First acquire an infallible technique, then open yourself to inspiration."
-old Japanese saying

The focus of this 3-day workshop is interpreting the human form in plasteline clay, in an accurate and powerful way. Sculpting techniques, tools, anatomy, proportion and composition are considered, as related to developing a consistent, masterful process.

Edward Eyth provides artists with insights attained throughout his extensive career as artist, designer, college instructor and over 5 years as director of the Richard MacDonald Masters Workshops. Discussions and comprehensive demonstrations provide participants with methods for genuine artistic advancement. Working from a live model each day, students will work on multiple poses. The objective of the workshop is not to complete one definitive, resolved piece, but rather to understand and assimilate the habits and methods that facilitate a solid, consistent artistic process. This workshop is appropriate for intermediate to professional sculptors wishing to gain the knowledge and skills required for more sophisticated, successful results. Portfolio submission is required to qualify. Students are encouraged to develop proficiency in figurative drawing in addition to their sculpture experience.

Extended stays are encouraged, in order to fully partake of the ample sites and experiences. The adjacent cities of Pebble Beach and Monterey provide an even more colorful experience, and Big Sur is only a short drive south of Carmel.

Application Procedures

Since enrollment is limited and assignments are made on a first-come, first-served basis, we encourage you to apply early. Anyone who applies after the 15 person limit has been reached will be placed on a waiting list in event of cancellations.

Early entry deadline is March 31, applications will continue to be accepted until the workshop is full.

Portfolios

Admission to all workshops is by review of your portfolio of sculpture and other media. Portfolio review is required for acceptance. This policy reflects the sincere desire to maintain a consistent level of proficiency in this workshop. Portfolios are evaluated to establish each candidate's fundamental understanding of anatomy and proportion, and experience in rendering the human form in clay. Figure drawings and paintings can be submitted to supplement sculptural works. Please submit 5 to 10 photographic samples of your figurative sculpture work in clay or bronze. Digital images or high-resolution prints are acceptable. If you wish to have your portfolio returned, please include a self-addressed, post-paid envelope or labeled container and postage; otherwise portfolios will be returned at the workshop. Please send digital portfolios to: eyth@sbcglobal.net or prints to:

Edward Eyth Workshops, 221 Walcott Way, Pacific Grove, CA 93950
